At the Educational Policy Institute, we understand the challenges institutions face and bring a research-based approach to solving the puzzle of student retention. EPI’s international team of experts and consultants works with institutional staff and administrators to assess current efforts to increase student success and provide critical support in planning, implementing, and monitoring the impact of new strategies and programs. With expertise in enrollment management, financial aid, student services, and academic services, the EPI team offers research-based retention services ranging from institutional audits to strategic planning and professional development.
